Bluecoat Primary Academy Family Engage Time

At Bluecoat Primary Academy, we pride ourselves on our Christian ethos which impacts all aspects of our school life. We realise that while so many of our children are staying safe at home during the Covid-19 outbreak, they are not getting the chance to meet together in collective worship or in their classes for Engage Time. We also recognise that in times of uncertainty, it is often our faith in God that keeps us going and that this can bring reassurance when other aspects of life feel overwhelming. Because of this, we believe that it is vital for our Bluecoat family, adults and children alike, to take time to reflect on their faith and on the bigger picture. With this in mind, we are excited to introduce BPA Family Engage Time.

What is Bluecoat Primary Academy Family Engage Time?

BPA Family Engage Time is the opportunity for you to read the Bible with your children, reflect on what it says and then spend some time doing a fun activity related to what you have read. These Engage Time sessions are by no means compulsory, but we hope that they will offer the chance for you to switch off from the day to day business and uncertainty that we are currently facing and to spend some quality time as a family engaging with and reflecting on our Christian beliefs.

When will BPA Family Engage Time be?

Unlike the learning packs that your children have been sent, BPA Family Engage Time won't be scheduled for one particular day. We will endeavour to upload one session a week, at the beginning of the week, which will have everything you need for the weekly session. These can be as long or short as you'd like and don't need to be particularly formal in any way. Why not try chatting about one of the Bible stories you read over dinner together or before you go to bed or make a craft together during a lunch time?

Easter

To kick off our BPA Family Engage Time, we have gathered and produced some resources for you to explore as a family on Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter Sunday. We believe that thinking about the hope that Easter gives us is a great way to enjoy the Easter holiday. Regular BPA Family Engage times will be posted when the break is over on our website and Facebook page
